FLOW BOARD

Flowboard You don't need to go all the way to the coast to enjoy flowboarding. Flowboarding takes place on an artificial wave, making the experience even more accessible and just as fun as surfing. Flowboarders need strong leg muscles and a high level of balance. Flowboarding has become very popular in Thailand and there are now many places to try out this sport.

FLYBOARD

Flyboarding combines jet-skiing and a futuristic jetpack to provide an exhilarating experience. The board uses water propulsion to maintain balance while hovering above the water's surface. It can also plunge you underwater to dive like a dolphin. To be an advanced flyboarding athlete, you need to take some time to work on your balance but once you get the hang of it you will be able to show off your flips and somersaults. Flyboarding is now considered a professional sport.

SKY DIVE

---

Skydiving takes you up in an airplane to a height of 9,000 to 13,000 feet (approximately 3-4 kilometers) while you enjoy some great birds-eye views of the scenery below. Once the plane is above the practice range, the instructor attaches firmly you to them and carries out a rigorous safety check before stepping out of the plane. The highly experienced professional instructor controls the parachute and teaches basic safety rules to the amateur skydiver as they guide them gently down to earth.
